10,000 Maniacs, Hidden Into My Heart

I see the leaves of autumn changing falling turning what was green I see a door standing open, open to curiosity we could be together tear it all apart would you ever notice what was hidden in my heart heartstrong do we ever listen closely as willows start to weep there as we stood upon the threshold who said forever was for keeps? would you ever notice what was hidden in my heart, my deep heart is reeling forward and steady on to keep, who made me miss the last ferry? who made this river so deep?