

10,000 Maniacs, Scorpio Rising

(music: John Lombardo & Robert Buck/lyric: Natalie Merchant)

power dizzy with it stumble detail
a chance for us to quarrel anger
my head is shaken violent

if i could calm or restrain you for the sake of pity
save the pistol
save the cynics tongue
save the cool white stare and treat me to an honest face sometime amaze me now

trust is the greatest human error empty
used me as a vessel ruthless you're not known for subtlety

if i could calm or restrain you
for the sake of pity
save the pistol
save the cynic's tongue
save the cool white stare
and treat me to an honest face sometime

amaze me now

artful
well there's quite a skill to torture half smile was it all you could deliver token so hard to be pleasant

if you could calm or restrain it
for the sake of pity
save the pistol
save the cynic's tongue
save the cool white stare
and treat me to an honest face sometime

amaze me now