

A Long Winter, She's Gone And Her Ghost Still H

She's gone and her ghost still haunts me.
I watched you disappear right before my eyes.
She's gone.
When I think of what we had, it makes my heart grow cold.
I don't want to be in that place again.
I'll make you disappear.
But you're still here.
Her ghost still haunts me.
I'll make you disappear but you're still here.
Why I was headed for the sun.
It blacked out left me with no one.
I opened my arms letting you in.
You walked away.
You're gone.
Can I look in your eyes?
Can I hold your hand?
Or am I wasting my time?
