ABC, The Very First Time

I'm not cynical I'm not naive I lost my faith in everything But now I believe It's not the principle I'm not invisible You open up the door And you ask me to leave I'm not stupid I'm not smart I'm not arrogant enough To suffer for my art I'm not a criminal So set me free If you're gonna say something Say it to me I know for sure There's nothing more For the very first time Right here and now There's something pure For the very first time It's not a chemical It's not caffeine It's something so much better Than you ever seen It's nothing physical It's unintentional The fire's still burning If you know what I mean I'm not stupid I'm not smart I'm not arrogant enough To suffer for my art I'm not a criminal So set me free If you're gonna say something Say it to me I know for sure There's nothing more For the very first time Right here and now There's something pure

For the very first time
