

Ace Enders And A Million Different People, React

Oh

So if I ask you to stay
You remind me that your mind's made up
And you've had enough of us, of us
And I'd say

So if I ask you to stay
You'll remind me that your mind's made up
And you had enough of us, of us
And I'd say

Oh I'd say Wait

I hold my breath and wait for your reaction
Stand my ground 'cause I'm not ready to back down
I know but where could I go
Wait for your reaction, wait for your reaction

Oh

So if I say it's okay, and I walk out
Would you let me go, would you follow me to the door
Or just sit hoping for more

I know you wonder if it's worth the wait
Or the time that it takes
Every breath that you lost
Every night spent awake
Every moment gets closer
The door's gonna close on you

So I say Wait

I hold my breath and wait for your reaction
Stand my ground 'cause I'm not ready to back down
I know but where could I go
Wait for your reaction, wait for your reaction

Oh

I hold my breath and wait for your reaction
Stand my ground 'cause I'm not ready to back down
I know but where could I go
Wait for your reaction, wait for your reaction

I hold my breath and wait for your reaction
Stand my ground 'cause I'm not ready to back down
I know but where could I go
Wait for your reaction, wait for your reaction

Oh