

Adagio, From My Sleep... To Someone Else

Sometimes Morpheus's waiting
For my dreams to make me realize
How alone I can feel, in my suffering
How fragile I am!

Who's controlling me
My tears are falling
I'll never be the same
Open my window to real world
And let me go...

And by the dawn I'll know
If I'll rest in my sorrow
To breathe to kiss, I'll need
To live my life forever
I am you are me
I am my own enemy
I'm frightened by my will
Can't you hear my appeal?

Today's a new season
Have I lost, all of my reason?
The blackened sky awaits
The judgement of my lifeless fate

My eyes are slowly opening
And I just feel like nothing has changed
I'll have to accept truth
I am condemned to cry

And by the dawn I know
I will rest in my sorrow
To burn, to shout, I will
Not live this life forever
I am, you are me
I am my own enemy
But not for long I'm sure
I see the final cure.