

Adelayda, Not Tonight

Do you remember all the things you said to me
You made them sound so simple, but they're just not that easy
You swear that I could be someone to hold you for all time
Baby, not tonight

And I tried to tell you now, but I can't find those words
And I tried to show you how, but that's pain you don't deserve
And you're sitting there and asking if you can come inside
Baby, not tonight

And take a look at what we've become
A tragedy, but I can't find that love
That we started with so long ago
And I know this isn't right
It's the last time I'll be kissing you
So goodnight, goodnight

This is gonna hurt me now much more than it hurts you
A sad 'ol cliché is now slowly turning true
You can tell something's wrong and ask can we talk awhile
Baby, not tonight

Take a look at what we've become
A tragedy, but I can't find that love
That we started with so long ago
And I know this isn't right
It's the last time I'll be kissing you
So goodnight, goodnight, Yeah

We're driving home and you can see this in my eyes
Yours start to tear up, you see straight through my disguise
And you're leaning so much closer now, holding on so tight
It's the last time I'll be kissing you
So goodnight, goodnight
Goodnight, goodnight
Yeah, oh yeah, oh yeah, oh yeah
