

Adem, There Will Always Be

Fool, you've lost your way
Look to the stars to guide you

I hope you find
All you need in this life to get by

And if all the lights that lead you
Lead you to my door
It will always be open
There will always be lights on
There will always be room at my table for you

Take what you want,
But leave us a sign
You become what you left behind

I hope you find
All you need in this life to get by

And if all the lights that lead you
Lead you to my door
It will always be open
There will always be lights on
There will always be room at my table to you
