

Afrojack, As Your Friend (ft. Chris Brown)

I just can't live anymore like this My heart just opened up the door again just watch me fly as I spread my wings don't ask me why 'cause there are too many things.

And now we're standing on the edge
looking like here we go again
I used to be your man but today
I woke up as your friend

As your friend, as your friend, as your friend
I woke up as your friend,
As your friend, as your friend,
I woke up as your friend

Oh lil' mama
I can feel your fire
You poisonous lady
Let me take you higher
And I don't care if it's a bad time
Just label me the bad guy tonight

And now we're standing on the edge,
Looking like here we go again
I used to be your man but today
I woke up as your friend

I came to party hoping that you would fall in love
Don't mean to put no pressure on you
Everybody loving madly
And the DJ he's getting drunk
Trying to get next to you

And now we're standing on the edge
looking like here we go again
I used to be your man but today
I woke up as your friend

As your friend, as your friend, as your friend
I woke up as your friend,
As your friend, as your friend,
I woke up, I woke up as a friend
As your friend, as your friend, as your friend,
As your friend, as your friend, as your friend
I woke up as your friend.

And now we're standing on the edge
looking like here we go again
I used to be your man but today
I woke up as your friend
