After Forever, Yield To Temptation

They told you not to yield to temptation and opened their arms... ...Make your own inferences...

Inscrutable chaos in my head Inevitably Greed will take its toll Why There's no place to hide Let me free myself

The anathema's driving millions together in the pustules of our earth Greed and self-denial the cause of unimpeded desecration of the truth

They told you not to yield to temptation but offered you only hypocrisy and ruin

The phantom of damnation threw her coat over humanity

Captive in the shackles of this indoctrination depraved souls wished to be pure Delight in deformity the last convulsions are building up a bridge to a new era The assumption of a faded supposition Never shall I be a marionette !

The embrace that smothers...