

Agent Felix, She Never Named It so I'll sit down I'm that this might hurt be careful not to slit open my wrists with your words I just rubbed out my last wish I'll wish it all away to spell out your name with all the stars of Uruguay jump inside my skin to see what's going on within I think I'm falling for you Jen my heart is beating in a box waiting at your doorstep marked fragile handle with care when you open it I'm laying it on the line now your what I'm all about think twice before you tear my heart out jump inside my skin to see what's going on within

I think I'm falling for you Jen

I won't ever ask for much of anything please desist the loneliness in me I hope that is not too much to ask of you hope is all that I've got left to do a face like yours is so hard to find I pray one day you'll call me yours and I'll call you mine
