

Agent Orange, I Kill Spies

you've never seen my face before you will not recognize my voice i am the perfect law to end these wicked crimes i am a man without a past i face a world without a future and i've done it all at least a million times i'm the eyes that read between the lines i devise the rumors - and vicious lies i do everything i can to hide the truth but can you see it in my eyes?
i kill spies

as i walked into the room i couldn't help but feel the tension i can hear your thoughts - i can read your mind i've been through this all before by persistence - by intention i just do my job and leave the past behind once there was a time when i believed anything could happen - at any time i've been waiting for this moment all my life and now at last - the pleasure's mine
i kill spies