Aidan Hawken, Tired

Just the way i saw you reach out, touch his hand, it was born something in us you can't understand and if i ever get to know you, it might kill us both but i'll be free to tell you you're reflected in the corner of my eye while i stood there watching all the busy people passing through it occured cars and trucks that had a million things to do, i thought, i should slow down for a while i get so tired after all i get so tired after all (fade)
