

Aiden Lewis, Let Go (ft. Koonsi)

We walk around with the same scars on both our arms but we don't know we don't know

And these same burns there pushing back there pushing back they always show they always show

These drowning sounds messing around with one on ones no lets be friends no lets be lovers lets be

Never gonna give it all up

Never gonna be all us again

It's the end it's the end

It's Back to back it's black and white did you do this it's wrong or right it's wrong or right

These burns are deep like secrets kept

Its not the same when we just met when we just met

These burning words there left in bed and all the things that should be said were never said

These little lies we keep inside they tell the truth so we let go so just let go

Never gonna give it all up

Never gonna be all us again

It's the end it's the end