

Airiel, Thrown Idols

I watched the sea kiss your feet what a trail you made running through the waves i tried to follow your path but the shells and teeth cut through my feet oh how your eyes shone in the sunlight then you held me close said you'd be mine yes i know that you weren't really there just a creative device but I don't really care I'll take you out of my heart because you're always there does the ending draw near?
doesn't time take it's toll it dulls romance and fades the soul and though we gave our best try yet despite our hopes, it still seems to die oh how your tears shone in the moonlight
let each other go said our goodbyes