

Alec Benjamin, Hammers

It's always subjective
The thing that you see
So what's your objective?
What will it be?
With those nails and those wrenches
The tools in your hand
I just have one question

If hammers can build
If hammers can take
If hammers can think
If hammers can break the ground that you walk upon
Break the ground that you're standing on, standing on
If hammers can crush
If hammers can bend
Then how do you plan to use your hammer, my friend?
Wield your hammer like weapons drawn
Or wield your hammer to right what's wrong, to right what's wrong?
Mmm
Only time will show
Only time will show
Only time will show
Only time will show

We're not passing judgment
'Cause that would be cruel
Use your words to bludgeon you
As if they were some tool
But with those nails and those wrenches
The tools in your hand
I just have one question

If hammers can build
If hammers can take
If hammers can think
If hammers can break the ground that you walk upon
Break the ground that you're standing on, standing on
If hammers can crush
If hammers can bend
Then how do you plan to use your hammer, my friend?
Wield your hammer like weapons drawn
Or wield your hammer to right what's wrong, to right what's wrong?
Mmm
Only time will show
Only time will show
Only time will show
Only time will show

If hammers can build
If hammers can take
If hammers can think
If hammers can break the ground that you walk upon
Break the ground that you're standing on, standing on
If hammers can crush
If hammers can bend
Then how do you plan to use your hammer, my friend?
Wield your hammer like weapons drawn
Or wield your hammer to right what's wrong, to right what's wrong?
Mmm
Only time will show
Only time will show
Only time will show
Only time will show, mmm