

Alec Benjamin, Must Have Been The Wind

i heard a glass shatter on the wall n the apartment above mine at first I thought that I was dreamin' but then I heard the voice of a girl and it sounded like she'd been cryin' now I am too worried to be sleepin' so I took the elevator to the second floor we walked down the hall and then I knocked upon her door she opened up and I asked the things I've been hearing she said; I think your ears are playing tricks on you sweater zipped up to her chin Thanks for caring

sit, that's nice of you
but I have to go back in Wish I could tell you about the noise but I didn't hear a thing
she said
it must have been the wind
must have been the wind
she said

so I was layin' on the floor of my room cold concrete on my back I didn't want to intrude cause I knew that I didn't have all the facts but I couldn't bear the thought of leavin' her

aim my boombox at the roof
I hope she knows she'll be okay
I know exactly when I'll say Promise I am not playing tricks on you you're always welcome to come in you could stay here for an hour or 2 if you ever need a friend we can talk about the noise when you're ready

but till then
I'll say
