

Alejandro Fuentes, Stars

One stolen look cross the room an illusive smile, but soon baby soon.
One minute for every hour but time hasn't been on our side on our side.
Still holding on
been waiting so long
for that indelible time.
When the stars shines upon me
and the night feels so lonely then
I only picture your face
and remember the days, nights and now
I spent them with you
(I spent them with you)
Two worlds under the sun
We melt into one just, come baby come.
All the signs says it's so appointed upon by the hour of love Still holding on
been waiting so long
for that indelable time.
When the stars shines upon me
and the night feels so lonely then
I only picture your face
and remember the days, nights and now
I spent them with you
My coffee is cold cause I've waited so long.
The thoughts of your smile always makes me feel strong.
I'm drawing a picture of you in my mind and the thought of your smile always making me miss you so much.
When the stars shines upon me
and the night feels so lonely then
I only picture your face
and remember the days, nights and now
I spent them with you
I spent them with you
(I spent them with you)
I spent them with you
(I spent them with you)