<lyrics>

Asura-sura dance, take my hand
I'm not saying that I like you
Everything is transitory in this changing world
Even if people's hearts don't abide
I don't regret anything

If I can look in your eyes
At the final moment
I won't leave behind any sins
I'll beg forgiveness from the god of hell

Like wounding each other
Will searching be hopeless?
The sword of sorrow
Pierces my heart deeply

The fresh blood of Venus
I am wearing
The golden armor
But love is said to be a scratch

Asura-sura song, the voice of the storm
Keeps calling that dear name
The demonic mask or the gorgeous countenance
Which will I be when I meet you?
My body keeps burning

These memories will never become impure

The ashen ground
Is pregnant with evil dreams
In the fullness of time, a woman
Blooms like red poppies

Was it fate
That my love for you whittled away my life?
The relationship between us
Is like a cat's cradle that cuts off your finger

The reincarnated Venus
The place I was born
Was the battlefield called love
More endless than anywhere on this earth

Asura-sura dance, I let my hair down
I'm not saying I want you
Everything is transitory in this changing world
Sleeping or waking, the days are ephemeral
Like scattered balls

Tell me
What is most precious

Asura-sura dance, our legs entwined
I won't let anyone else have you
Insects are eating the evil spirits and nightmares
Until I falls to this place, the real world is falling
Tricked by my own body

Asura-sura song, through the storm
I keep calling that dear name

The demonic mask or the gorgeous countenance
Which will I be when I meet you?
My body keeps burning

Embracing this only love
I will just live
