

Alice Cooper, Burning Bed

Baby, don't you shed a tear for me
Well I wouldn't want to waste your time
You talked a lot of trash and you lied to me
But babe, you never even tried
Oh, oh, oh
You can hold my heart for ransom
But you'll never own my soul
Baby, I might lose my mind
Maybe I might lose my head
One thing I'll never do
Is swallow my pride crawlin' back to you
Baby, I'm burning our bed
There used to be a time when you were everything
My flame through the night
You got me hot and then you blew me out
Like this match I'm about to light
Oh, oh, oh
You can tear my heart to pieces
You left me standing in the cold
Baby, I might lose my mind
Maybe I might lose my head
One thing I gotta do
Is torch those sheets and pillows too
Baby, I'm burning our bed
Well, I used to think you were so kind
How could I be so blind
Oh, oh, oh
I'm free
But I'm alone
Maybe I might lose my mind
Maybe I might lose my head
One thing I'll swear to you
You're gonna feel the heat 'fore this night is through
Baby, you're burning me
Sometimes a man can bleed
Baby, I'm burning our bed
Baby, I might lose my mind
Maybe I might lose my head
One thing I'll never do
Is swallow my pride crawlin' back to you
Baby, I'm burning our bed
