

Alice Cooper, The Congregation

Now you're here, so have no fear
I'm just your friendly guide
So come along, 'cause you belong
You joined us when you died
From your birth until your final breath
I'm proud to say you finally entertained yourself to death
Welcome to the Congregation
I hope we meet your expectations
A little tiny pinch of deviation
We understand what you had planned
Goes by another name
Where bluebirds sing and church bells ring
Well... isn't that a shame?
Your application sadly was denied
But let's be clear, we love you here, you're on the other side
Welcome to the Congregation
I hope we meet your expectations
We promise it won't stain your reputation

[THE GUIDE]

Ah, as you can see over here in the Broken Glass Chamber of the boys from Wall St.
Let's hear it for the boys! (oooh)
And here in the Eternal Mariachi Room are the defrocked priests and telemarketers (ohhhh)
And, of course, in the Fiery Pit of Boiling Death, the lawyers, pimps and mimes (ahhhh)
Welcome to the Congregation
Welcome to the Congregation
Welcome to the Congregation
I hope we meet your expectation
So thanks for dropping by here
We're really gonna try here
But in the end you know you're gonna fry... fry... fry here
Um... excuse me sir, is there a bathroom here?