

Alice In Videoland, Falling

This bleeding heart keeps calling
Can't stop my world from falling from falling, from falling, from falling apart
I made myself sick today
I'm slipping away
and seem to stick to the gates
I lay myself down to sleep
It's hard to wake up
When you have fallen too deep
I've eaten myself up Believing I'm someone
But something's hide and something's left and done
This bleeding heart keeps calling
Can't stop my world from falling
from falling, from falling, from falling
apart
I promise that I wouldn't feel Keeping what's real
My heart is not made of steel
There's no escape, no return
As far as I know, I never learn Been waiting for so long Betrayed and on my own
Because I help lead a game that can't be won