

Alice Merton, Speak Your Mind

you say that it's all fine but I can read your thoughts and I can see that you ain't alright but you won't tell me why no you won't tell me why and you know that it's hard for me to look at you and realise you're part of me but nowadays you seem so far away from me so out of reach /2x

won't you speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
won't you come out of the corner and say

I know that you know me and I know you better than you think you might know yourself so why do you still act so lonely you know that you're only do you know that it's hard for me to watch you sink away and act so differently cause nowadays you seem so far away from me so out of reach /2x

won't you speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
won't you come out of the corner and say

go in and like in the bed you made keep all the words for the ones who play cause I am getting tired of the guessing game
go in and like in the bed you made keep all the words for the ones who will play cause I am getting tired of the guessing game

won't you speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind
there's a silence in the room and it is killing me
speak your mind