Alice Peacock, Anyone But Me

I'm finding it hard to live with my heart And look at you straight in the eye To know what I know And know that you don't It's getting harder and harder to hide Baby I've tried and tried to make it real But I can't lie about what I can't feel You should be in love You should have the Sun and Moon And all the stars above baby You deserve someone Who can give it all to you The way that I can't seem to do In love is where you should be In love with anyone...anyone but me I've lied to myself and everyone else And I can't keep lying to you Cuz' I loved you once, I loved you so much So I need to tell you the truth Baby you need to know You're my best friend So I can't fake it, I can't pretend [Chorus] Someday you'll smile again - I know Think of me then [Chorus]
