Alicia Keys, Nobody Not Really

Who really cares? Who really cares when I talk? What I feel? What I say? Nobody not really Who wants to take, the time to find a stand? I would like someone to heal me with some empathy That I can't find Nobody not really Maybe I'm invisible to the world Is there anyone in the world even think of me As more than just a hopeless cause Maybe the world is not my block My stoop My life My dreams My anything, anything Who wants to help? Oh but she's so tired Powerful, but you're not here I'm alone in a big empty space with

Nobody not really