Alkaline Trio, Dead And Broken

A deep dark secret down at the bottom But this bay can't keep it unforgotten. And a story that was told has now grown taller than we'd ever wish to be Beyond belief...

I'll grab the boat if you go grab the anchor, The tarp and twine and the weights that sank her. They weren't enough look who showed up A new light shed is shining through. Illuminating you as we lay

Side by side, dead and broken Our lives aren't the same since the night yours went stolen. Blood ran black beneath the moonlight. Your lover's blood ran cold, Cutting off the hands he used to hold.

Side by side, dead and broken Our Hearts aren't the same since the night yours went stolen. Blood ran black beneath the moonlight. Your lover's blood ran cold, Cutting off the hands he used to hold.

We used to hold.
