Alkaline Trio, Into The Night

We'll never know which way this road is gonna turn Can't be sure how quick your wick is gonna burn So sing to me your darkest secrets Time to leave behind your regrets Before we get lost in the blink of an eye This carrion has been forgotten Left for dead in the sun rotting The answer lies here in this tragedy That ends with you and me When we're dragged from the light Into the night We have been warned which way the storm is gonna blow But where the rip-tide takes us to we'll never know Now you're screaming out for Jesus Or for anyone please save us before we get lost In the blink of an eye The answer lies here in the mystery That starts with you and me When we're dragged from the light Into the night
