Alkaline Trio, Lost And Rendered

Found out the hard way that you were lost and rendered All alone in the dark forest of your thoughts Forever following a trail of fear that seems to lead To more dead ends and mysteries Im losing hope of ever solving Can anybody hear me? Is anyone out there? Ive fallen and Im broken down, Im dying over here If anybodys listening, I hope you hear my cries My will to live is wearing thin, Im running out of time Sounding the alarms inside of me Hoping like hell the sound cuts through the water and the broken trees And reaches you before the creatures of the nigh Descend on me no help in sight Wont be long before we lose daylight Take a deep breath, it could be the cure It could be your last, cant know for sure Is it the hate they tried to show? Is it the love that youll never know? I guess well never know