All, Drive Away

All Miscellaneous Drive Away

Tears fall down and wash the dirt away
Sky opens up to cry a while
Too many tortured memories to pass the time
The sun never shows its face
Steel belts leave their tracks along the way
Radio sings forgottn songs
Summer always seems to be so far away
The sun never shows its face
Drive away, drive away from troubles of the world
Drive away, drive away forem everything that hurts
At night the highway seems so never ending
The moon comes out to light the way
The highway signs glare back and blind your understanding
The sun never shoes its face

Drive away, drive away from troubles of the world Drive away, drive away forem everything that hurts Time flies by, we all wonder why It takes time away to kill the pain Hearts celebrate but always bend You know it'll hurt until the end Tonight the headlight's shinging through There still time For everything to change Drive away, drive away from troubles of the world Drive away, drive away from troubles of the world Drive away, drive away from troubles of the world Drive away, drive away forem everything that hurts
