

America, My American dream

I always thought that I wanted a long, new, shiny cadillac That a real man wears five hundred dollar