

Amplifier, O Fortuna

O Fortuna

Am I but your clockwork hero?

From here in the last ditch

Toe to toe, blow for blow -

You are the enigma

Well never mind!

The future's already happened

And there is always someone left to fight to the death

With everybreath inside this body -

My dreams are what's keeping me alive!

And it is wise to be careful when the animal shows no fear

Puny human - you are no match for me

For things are never as they appear

Now I've been freed from the ropes that bind

Well who is the puppetmaster?

Dishing out an eye for an eye and spitting teeth

Well you'll never take me alive!

O Fortuna

Am I alone in this darkness we call redemption

Well I could not change you

No more than I could change my shadow

No more than I could fly to the moon
