

Amy Lee, Love Exists

It can be born anywhere
In the last place you'd expect
In a way you'd never dream
It can grow from nothing
And blossom in a second
A single glance is all it takes
To get inside you

Invading every thought
And every beat of your heart
Love can make you scream
And it can leave you speechless
Love has a thousand stems
But only one flower

It can grow alone till it turns to dust
It can tear your world apart or bind to you forever
It can grow in darkness
Make its own light
Turn a curse into a kiss
Change the meaning of your words

Love makes no sense
Love has no name
Love drowns you in tears
And then sets your heart on fire
Love has no fear
Love has no reason

So infinitely vast
And we're standing at the edge
Take my hand and erase the past forever
My love is you
My love you are

Love makes no sense
Love has no name
Love is never wrong
And never needs a reason
I'm drowning in my tears
But my heart's on fire

It can make you better
It can change you slowly
Give you everything you want
Ask for nothing in return
In the blink of an eye, the hint of a smile
In the way you say goodbye
In every time you find me

Love makes no sense
Love has no name
Love drowns you in tears
And then sets your heart on fire
Love has no fear
Love has no reason

Love makes no sense
Love has no name
Love drowns you in tears
And then sets your heart on fire
Love has no fear
Love has no reason
My love is you

My love you are