

And One, You Don't Love Me Anymore

I didn't mean to treat you wrong
Or maybe I did I'm not so sure anymore
Somehow I knew that it wouldn't be long
Before you'd break up and close the door
And be no more

Still it echoes in my head
Things you did and the things you said

You don't love me anymore
I see it in your eyes
Don't believe in your lies
Just cold as ice

Morning sun peers through the shades
Past emotions slowly fade
Results light upon your skin
Guilt and passion and forgiven sin
And all the things that pain

I'm sorry it had to end this way
But nothing matters anyway

You don't love me anymore
I see it in your eyes
Don't believe in your lies
Just cold as ice