Andrea Bocelli, Rodrigo (In English)

Arunjuez, a place of love and dreams, where crystal fountains playing in the garden seem to murmer to the roses.

Arunjuez, the dry and faded leaves now swept away by the wind are memories of the romance you and I once began and then for no reason forgot.

Perhaps that love is hiding in the twilight, in the breeze or in a flower, awaiting your return.

Arunjuez, the dry and faded leaves,

In Arunjuez, my love, you and I.