

Anemonia, The Quest

Just a walk, the one, one last hope stands
Forgetting all the rules, refusing to conform
I'm a prey in the grey
Oh why should I obey?
You're lost, in the deep disarray
One last try to one day scream victory VICTORY!
One more lost soul
Now left with no colors
A dead flower
Who never saw summer
Where art thou hidden colors?
Thou mystic shades of life
Can a dream still breathe
After dying so many times?
Nothing left to give
All yet to be born
Dying rules from Earth
For the rise of my dreams
Seeking the Moonlight
Teachings from the sea
Listen to thy heart
And claim thy glory, and sing this song
One fantastic Quest for a new paradise
One day, no more I could give
To this world, like an empty bottle
Tearing my heart for this song
Is just not a routine
One day, no more I could feel
For this world, when the last hope shall die
The final countdown has begun
But how long will it last?
For the love and for the passion beyond the skin
For the burning desire to unveil the mystery
From all the pain left with only a stain
Could only be cleaned by the truest lover's kiss