

Ann Hampton Callaway, Finding Beauty

Finding beauty, the night we met you set me free
I fell in love and now I'm finding beauty
Look what your love has done to me
I'm like a child is in wild anticipation
Love each new sensation
You've turned my blackened world to Technicolor
Everything around me conspires to astound me
Took the leap, took the dare beauties everywhere
Someone new is looking through my eyelashes
What to do everyday I spend with you
I'm a phoenix rising from the ashes
