Arch Enemy, Revolutions begins

Since the day that you were born the wheels are in motion Turning ever faster - Play your part in the big machine The stage is set, the road is chosen Your fate preordained We are watching you - every step of the way Never too late to stand your ground - Revolution begins In you - In me - Revolution! Once lost - lost in their game Mental chains breaking now Set yourself free Who are they to tell you what to do? The stage is not set, the road is not chosen Your fate not preordained They are losing control - every step of your way Never too late to stand your ground - Revolution begins In you - In me - Revolution! Lead - Michael Amott Harmony - Michael & Christopher Amott Never too late to stand your ground - Revolution begins In you - In me - This is revolution!