

Article One, Love You Tomorrow

I'm lonely tonight
We're miles apart, but sitting side by side
Things are right, and doubts are running through my mind
The stories unfold, can even the truest of love grow cold
Cause when we're alone, it seems I'm not worth holding onto There's nothing worse than seeing someone 'bout to fall apart
How it hurts to watch this
I wish you could know my heart for you would never change
And I swear to you
If fires burned through our lives and left us nothing
Took away all we had made and had our hopes in Whatever comes, if it be joy or sorrow
I promise you that I will love you tomorrow
I will love you tomorrow
I will love you tomorrow

So what will it take, to rescue a heart that's about to break
Is it too late
We'll fall in love or fall apart
If there's something that was said that started all of this
I never meant it
Cause there's nothing in the world that can compare to us
And I swear to you
When love grows cold
I can feel it in the changing tide
Can love take hold
Is there any way to change your mind
If good intentions stood for something we'd be fine on this
And I swear to you that
