

Artrosis, Black And White Dreams

Reason of my silence lies in you

In my dream

Reason of my crime is only you

Reason of the pride I feel is you

In my dream

Reason of my inability

In jealousy, down on my knees I'm bound to pay

For everything you've done

And never will see your face again

Tears running down

Reason of your silence lies in me

In your dream

Reason of your crime is only me

Reason of your pride you feel is me

In your dream

Reason of your inability

In jealousy, down on my knees I'm bound to pay

For everything you've done

And so my dreams are always gonna stay in

Black and white

So long I have waited for the sign

Emotional desert you've become

To spring from which no water runs outside

Forever dreams of black and white
