

Ashley Wallbridge and Andy Moor, World To Turn

We wait for life, we wait for rain
I wait alone for you to find me
Then lost again
If you want love you'll find it here
So free your heart take a breath
Say the word and I'll be there

Tonight we'll leave these chains behind
Shed the skin from another moment in our lives
We'll turn our faces to the frozen sun
So take my hand
Chase the sky and watch it burn
Waiting for the world to turn

Between the blessing and the cursed
Between the promises you made me
And the way you were
At the speed of light were standing still
With opens arms we'll start again
You brace the pleasure and the pain

Waiting for the world to turn

Tonight we'll leave these chains behind
Shed the skin from another moment in our lives
We'll turn our faces to the frozen sun
So take my hand
Chase the sky and watch it burn
Waiting for the world to turn
