

Asking Alexandria, A Single Moment Of Sincerity

False tales lies of a washed up prom queen
Why'd you tell me everything was fine?
Everything was okay?
Get on your knees
Oh, why you tore me up?
No, why everything's dead inside
Oh, you could've told me, at least I would've known
No, you should've told me and carved it in my bones
Tear out my eyes to remove the gift of sight
Proves ever cursing still, the light can't find us here
Painted red my eyes are burning
And still you hide behind the waves
Your silence is so haunting
Your words relentless, burying in
My heart betrays me for a last first kiss goodbye
Fall asleep and jar one eye

Spilling every lie you've spilled before
But I'm not forgiving you
What happened between us, what can I give to save us
Being righteous isn't quite enough
What happened between us, what can I give to save me
These oceans are far between our hearts (these oceans are)
The breathing has got too hard
Scream with the voice of an angel
Lie in the name of the gospel
Smile in the face of your victims, smile for me
This is my last request to you
Hold my breath
I was clutching on to disaster
Hold my breath
