

Astral Winter , Beyond These Frozen Castle Wall

Night is finally closing in realms of darkness call my name
Eternal winds lay out my path, they slowly fade to death's embrace
A world of silence besieging me, I leave the acropolis gates behind
Through the algid dark archways, to a kingdom far beyond

Beyond these frozen castle walls, through infinite valleys of ebony mist
I ride the wings of pestilence to the lands of eternal woe
I pass through the gates to the unholy lands
To seek the ancient 3 headed beast

I close my eyes, feel the shadows rising
Vague lights guide me through times of emptiness
I close my eyes, feel the shadows rising
Vague lights guide me through times of emptiness

Shadows of my past rush by, they exist no more
Tales from abecedarian times, no longer remain
It stands before me enthroned in darkened mist
I raise my sword up high as moonlight evokes the sky

I close my eyes, feel the shadows rising
Vague lights guide me through times of emptiness
I close my eyes, feel the shadows rising
Vague lights guide me through times of emptiness

The mountains lie in saturninity, but the night is still awake
The snow is slowly falling, frozen from above
Blood stains the icy realms, as darkness engulfs my mind
I raise my fist in victory, the cease of the crimson tide

I close my eyes, feel the shadows rising
Vague lights guide me through times of emptiness
I close my eyes, feel the shadows rising
Vague lights guide me through times of emptiness

Darkness fills my mind as my souls escorted away from here
Leave this world behind me, descend into the shadow realm
Darkness fills my mind as my souls escorted away from here
Leave this world behind me, descend into the shadow realm