

At Last, Dream

Im sitting here thinking bout the times we shared
Trying to decide if I even should care
I know youre gone and weve already said our goodbyes
Forgetting you aint easy

Im waiting by the phone wishing you would call
Hoping that you changed your mind after all
Im all alone you left me here wondering why
You wanted to leave me

And when I cant take it anymore
When theres no more tears to cry,
I simply close my eyes and

Dream youre lying here next to me
When I dream your smile it sets me free
When I dream were falling in love once again
But then I wake and all I have are faded memories.

Reality hits me once again

I feel it in my heart will it ever end
I think Im missing you more than I did before
Is that even possible?

I cant eat, I cant breathe, I cant sleep
Without thinking bout you..
I dont think you know what you mean to me
Girl, you are so beautiful

Just when I thought Id make it through
Just when I was getting over you
Just when I had found some piece of mind
Suddenly, you come to me

And now youre here youre lying here next to me
And now youre here your smile it sets me free
And now youre here were falling in love once again

But then I wake and all I have are faded memories.
