At Vance, King Of Your Dreams

Somewhere between The day and the night You're hidin your aim's Waitin to fight

Face of an angel old to be wise but you are hidin the devil in disguise where does it end and where do you want to go the borders you'll bend I guess you will never know

Open your eyes try to be wise and you'll be the king of your dreams tryin to see what you want to be then you'll be the king of your dreams

Violence and hate is the harvest you'll get pay close attention they might take your head don't play with fire you won't stand the pain they call you a liar they call you a shame