

Aurora, Black Heavy Cat

[Music: Vestergaard - lyrics: Frolund]

Imagine the complications in our useless lives and the frustrations we're building withing our selfless tries We're consumed within our mediocre tears and our minds are f**ked for several years You live you learn, so they say But the lesson you have been told remains the same every single day But whenever you go out destiny is at our back sticks to you like a black heavy cat We're trying to make sense of absurd things Bearing our burden on heavy wings Gather all our joys and sorrows but life is still completely shallow We're reaching out to cease the day and climb the highest tree in big dismay What drives us to improve?
What drives us to go on?
I don't know
'cause tomorrow we'll be gone
