

Aurora, Black Tears

look at the colours in the dreaming water the moon sets in a sea of love far away stands a girl watching the slit open the sky tears are falling

in her mind - a pictured boy
in her vain - a bloodbubble which is tearing her apart

black tears

they are crawling
they are falling on her breast through the dream she flew to the sky where the eyes of truth always are watching you she flew with tears to the hidden sky where dead angels sing and the love never dies

where the love of generations never dies
