

Bacon Brothers, Heart Half Full

Written by Michael Bacon

Water is to glass as _____ is to Heart. a. Blood b. Love c. Taxi d. Happiness MB

As you stare off to one side and appear to be listening
I can see in your eyes, a small tear is glistening
For years we've been drifting on sands ever shifting
'Neath our feet, where we once walked hand in hand

How can I say just how much I need you to stay
When I reach out to touch, why do you turn away?
The cold winds are blowing, distances growing
Tell me we've got something left to save

Is your heart half empty or half full of love
Can you ever find the feeling again
Baby my love's so large and I'll never stop
'Til I fill your heart right to the top

My words can't explain just how hard I am trying
'Cause my heart hurts so badly when I see you crying
Just a sign that you need me, a hint you still care
Tell me that your love is still alive

Is your heart half empty or half full of love
Can you ever find the feeling again
Baby my love's so large and I'll never stop
'Til I fill your heart right to the top
