Bananarama, Heartless

Heartless, heartless Heartless Your love is too cold to handle And I should have realized When I try to talk it over You always close your eyes How can I ever love you When you won't let me through to you 'Cause you're heartless How could you be so heartless I can't believe anybody could be So heartless You never show your feelings Just look the other way When I try to show affection You always walk away How long must you keep me waiting Maybe you'll never change 'Cause you're heartless How could you be so heartless I can't believe anybody could be So heartless I can't believe anybody could be I can't believe anybody could be So heartless How can I ever love you When you won't let me through to you 'Cause you're heartless How could you be so heartless I can't believe anybody could be So heartless 'Cause you're heartless How could you be so heartless I can't believe anybody could be So heartless 'Cause you're heartless How could you be so heartless I can't believe anybody could be

So heartless