

Beloved (US), Watching The Lines Blur

Closer away from the boundaries
I'm building to break from.
Boundless and unrestrained,
Building to break them all.
We are built to see one way
But watching the lines blur
Our eyes have gouged out
And fused to see one another.
I won't let this tear me out of the ground.
I will defy the culture that rips me out
And tears me down.
I will defy your culture and make this real.
We will not die just to fade
Into the air like memories.
We will not die.
If we live in hearts we leave behind
Then we will never die.
And you can't replace them
With the ones you've lost.
We're escaping all your securities.