Ben Harper, Ashes

ashes to ashes and dust to dust that's what has become of our love and trust love has no direction cause love has no aim love can leave you as fast as she came meeting is such sweet sorrow cause someday we may have to part hush don't you make a sound you're gonna let me down good things come to those who wait but good things are gone from those who are late all that i am is all i can give but with or without you my life i must live

meeting is such sweet sorrow cause someday we may have to part hush don't you make a sound you're gonna let me down

living ain't easy since you've been gone no one else can please me or make me feel home forgetting ain't easy you stay on my mind thoughts of us haunt me can't leave them behind